

EAPSU CFP

EAPSU Online: A Web Journal of Critical and Creative Work, published by the English Association of Pennsylvania State Universities, welcomes submissions from any area of English studies: literature, writing, film, cultural studies, English education, composition/rhetoric, or any other area of interest. These may be critical or pedagogical articles, but they should not have been published elsewhere.

The suggested length for essay submissions is 1500-3000 words. We also welcome submissions of original poetry, fiction, creative nonfiction, or other forms of creative work.

Deadline: Rolling Acceptance

EAPSU Online is a peer-reviewed journal, and all submissions are reviewed through a blind process. Submissions are not limited to members of EAPSU (that is, faculty in the PASSHE institutions). Submissions must be sent electronically. Please send as an email attachment in MS Word, using MLA in-text citation to Carl Seiple Seiple@kutztown.edu. Number your pages, but do not include your name in the header or on the first page. Please include a title page with name, title of paper, kind of work submitted, affiliation, and email. Submissions must be accompanied by a current CV.

Note: We do not encourage submissions from undergraduate students.

Please send submissions to the editor:
